

MEDIA RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 16, 2011

ITL PHARMA DONATES MEDICAL SUPPLIES TO TORNADO VICTIMS IN SOUTHWEST VIRGINIA

(Bristol, Va.) – Local pharmaceutical company ITL Pharma joined the tornado recovery effort by donating cases of hydrogen peroxide, bandages and sterile pads to victims in southwest Virginia.

“As a member of this community, we wanted to pitch in and help where we could by donating medical supplies,” said Dr. Keith R. Latham, President and Chief Scientist at ITL Pharma. “Clean-up following storms like this frequently results in battlefield-like conditions with wounds from nails, sheet-metal and splinters.”

Wound-healing and tissue repair is one of ITL Pharma’s main areas of research and development. The company also focuses on research of diseases associated with aging, including Alzheimer’s disease, Parkinson’s disease, breast cancer, and heart disease. For more information, please visit www.itlpharma.com.

For media inquiries, please contact Eric Latham at 276-494-1656.